

Nu Epps

Short Biography for Introduction

Nu Epps, CEO & Founder, is a native of Houston, Texas who now resides in the suburbs of Atlanta, Georgia, with her husband and 2 sons. Nu is no stranger to the entertainment and the hospitality events industry. She began working in hospitality at age 14 with an apprenticeship at a prestigious country club in Texas. Post degree, Nu worked a combined 10 years as a university staff administrator responsible for signature concerts, performances, leadership development trainings and more at Spelman College and Kennesaw State University respectively.

Throughout her corporate, and entrepreneurial careers, Nu Epps has dazzled clients both nationally and locally with her unique ideas and resourcefulness. Her keen sense for creating events that pop has consistently generated new and repeat clientele from word of mouth referrals since the firm's inception in 2005. Nu has gained a reputation as a creative designer with an eye for detail and a focused, unflappable style. Clients attest to her total commitment to every project and her ability to find solutions for even the most complicated situations. Nu currently is self-employed with her own consulting firm, she owns an event facility, and has a personal commitment to women's empowerment initiatives, and small business development coaching.

She is a member of several professional organizations, an active member in her local community, and a proud member of the local elementary school chapter of the Cobb County PTA. Nu is also an active member in her beloved sorority, church, HOA board, and holds positions with several advisory boards for businesses owned locally and across the nation.
